Introduction to Project-Based Learning Using the National History Day Framework

Revolutionize your classroom with National History Day (NHD)! In fall 2015, NHD will offer two online graduate courses for middle and high school teachers and librarians who want to implement a project-based curriculum into their classrooms using the framework of the NHD program.

Both courses will provide practical advice as well as pedagogical strategies. Teachers will earn three graduate credits from the University of San Diego while creating classroom-ready materials customized to the needs of their students. Teachers will work on independently-paced modules with weekly deadlines. This allows a teacher to complete his or her work at any time of day from anywhere in the world.

Don't wait - spaces are limited and registration closes on Friday, August 14, 2015.

NHD Student participating in NAEP Google Hangout About History Education

July 7, at noon

The National Assessment Governing Board, who administers the National Assessment of Educational Progress, is hosting a Google Hangout to discuss history education in the United States. The panel discussion features a number of teachers, historians, and an NHD student! Macy Mateer won the Junior Individual Performance category in 2013 and recently placed 2nd in the Senior Individual Performance category at the 2015 contest.

Tune in here: <http://bit.ly/NAEPHangout>
